Two New Hotel Projects Slated in Palm Springs

Construction work on two hotel projects that will add 180 rooms worth more than $1,000,000 to Palm Springs' resort facilities was pending today as workers sped ahead on two other major building programs in the city.

Issuance of a building permit for 80 units to be added to Travelodge on East Palm Canyon Drive was announced by Robert B. Lutes, vice president.

Lutes said it will comprise a two-story building valued at $300,000 offering luxury features and construction will start in 10 days. Completion of plans for the 100-unit Tropics Hotel planned at East Palm Canyon Drive with construction expected to start within about two weeks was disclosed by Kenneth K. Kimes, developer and co-owner.

Kimes said the Tropics building will have a South Seas flavor featuring luxury accommodations, including conference rooms, recreation area and service shops along with restaurant and cocktail lounge.

Meanwhile, it was announced by hotelman Ray Ryan that El Mirador Hotel's $1,200,000 addition is nearing completion and an early reopening of the hotel is planned.

The new three-story Spanish style structure adjacent to El Mirador's famed swimming pool will be officially opened in ceremonies scheduled for Sept. 23, Ryan said.

Much remains to be done on the $2,500,000 Spa Hotel rising under the direction of Architects William Cody and Philip Koenig off Tahquitz-McCallum near Indian Ave. But Spa director Eddie Davidson told The Desert Sun management was confident the big hostelry will be ready for an opening in February. U.S. Army Escorts Red Troops

Russ Convoy Moves Through Berlin Without Incident

BERLIN (UPI) — The U.S. Army escorted Soviet troops in three personnel carriers into West Berlin today as Russia charged that the recent stonings of its buses had been staged "with the obvious connivance of U.S. occupation authorities."

In another development the U.S. Army sent hundreds of men and vehicles in six convoys along the East German autobahn without incident. The Soviets made no attempt to carry out their threat to insist on a Red army escort for the convoys as a result of U.S. action in escorting Russian troops when they came into West Berlin.

The Soviets warned in a note presented to U.S. officials in Moscow that Russia would take "necessary measures" to protect its diplomatic and military personnel passing through West Berlin.

It charged "fascistic elements" had staged "dangerous provocations" against Soviet military personnel en route to the Soviet War Memorial in West Berlin. Earlier this week West Berliners stoned buses carrying the Soviet troops in demonstration of their anger over the shooting of a refugee at the Berlin wall.

West Seeks Berlin Talks

MOSCOW (UPI) — The West called on Russia today to join in four-power talks to ease the explosive Berlin situation. In turn, the Russians said they would take the "necessary measures" to protect their people against future attacks in Berlin.

The series of diplomatic moves came as the Berlin situation remained quiet, with American Army convoys moving across the East German autobahn without hindrance and Soviet armored personnel carriers passing through West Berlin with American military escort.

UN Chief Thant Set For Khrushchev Visit

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — Acting Secretary General Thant leaves tonight for Moscow and vital talks with Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev which may affect his hopes of election to a full term as secretary general.

Thant, who is touring Communist East Europe for the first time since he became acting secretary general in November, will visit Prague and Warsaw as well as Moscow during an eight-day stay behind the Iron Curtain. He will return to New York by way of neutral Vienna.

Some diplomats here considered the trip significant because of Khrushchev's demand last Saturday that U.N. troops take over West Berlin.

The Burmese diplomat's visit marks a change in the attitude of the Kremlin, which agreed only reluctantly to his election as acting successor to the late Dag Hammarskjold.

Diplomatic observers say the Soviet invitation to Thant may mean that Russia is giving up its demand for control of the United Nations by a veto-bound "troika" secretariat, composed of representatives of the Western, Communist and unaligned countries.

Thant has been praised by the Americans. Acceptance by Moscow probably would assure his election for a five-year term as secretary general after the General Assembly meets next month on the first anniversary of Ham-

Program Hits Differences in Demos and GOP

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — California Democrats today announced the framework of a hard-hitting program they hope will lead them to victory in November.

Shell Raps Gov. Brown Over CDC

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Assemblyman Joe Shell, primary opponent of Richard Nixon for the gubernatorial nomination, today accused Gov. Edmund G. Brown and the Democratic Party of trying to "cast aside" the California Democratic Council to win votes in November.

Referring to recent policy differences between Brown and the CDC, Shell said that the Democratic candidates are "driving the California Democratic Council underground to hide its embarrassing positions."

Shell, Republican floor leader in the Assembly, called on the Democratic State Central Committee to clarify the status of the CDC in the Democratic Party at its meeting in Sacramento this weekend.

"Unfortunately, the liberal spokesman, once the darlings of the CDC, now have cast it aside so they can change to a more conservative complexion to face the voters," Shell said.

"The Democrats are going to have to learn that they can't hide a 70,000-member organization to shade its positions from the voters."

Workers Back On Space Job

HUNTSVILLE, Ala. (UPI) — About two-thirds of the electrical workers whose strike has held up space project construction at the Redstone Arsenal returned to work today.

A spokesman for the Marshall Space Flight Center said about three-fourths of other union members kept off the job by the electricians strike also were back at work today.

A spokesman for the union said the return to work apparently indicated that most if not all of the electricians would return to their jobs. But he said if contractors notified the union more men were needed, replacements would be provided for any electricians who refused to return to work.

The spokesman said a return of two-thirds of the electricians probably would permit construction work to proceed at nearly full speed for today. Construction work is not done on weekends.

The head of the electrical workers local Thursday night ordered his men back to work but said they were resentful of a federal court order that they end their strike and go back to work.

"They were damn unhappy," said James H. Haygood, business manager of Local 558, International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, after a closed union meeting Thursday night.

The party, with a 3-2 registration edge in the state, meets this weekend for its annual state convention and State Central Committee session.

As a preview, the party made public a number of resolutions to be introduced in the Central Committee meeting Sunday to "highlight the difference" between the two parties.

They were calculated to help Gov. Edmund G. Brown in his reelection bid against Republican Richard M. Nixon and to aid Democratic congressional and legislative candidates.

State Sen. Hugo Fisher, D-San Diego, chairman of the resolutions committee, said he expected between 25 and 50 resolutions to be introduced.

Directly Criticizes Nixon
At least one proposed resolution directly criticized Nixon for his failure to repudiate three GOP congressional candidates who are members of the John Birch Society.

Another proposed resolution would put the party on record against Proposition 24, the so-called Francis Anti-Communist Amendment to the state constitution.

Another proposed resolution would ask the Democratic Party to back President Kennedy's supposed medicare program.

Other resolutions would pledge the party to support a $270 million bond issue for state construction and discuss the controversial Donald Nixon-Howard Hughes loan.

Avoid Controversial Items
But the Democrats apparently were trying to stay away from controversy in Saturday's platform meeting. State Sen. George Miller, D-Martinez, headed the platform committee which held two earlier sessions, in Los Angeles and San Francisco, and planned an evening meeting in Sacramento today.

One party source said the platform would be "routine" and that the controversial items would be shunted into the Sunday resolution session.

The state convention Saturday will have 170 delegates and Sunday's Central Committee meeting will be open to 953.

Governor Brown will deliver the keynote address Saturday to the state convention.

News In Brief

LONDON (UPI) — A High Court judge ruled today that runaway Soviet spy Dr. Robert A. Soblen, 61, may be deported to the United States. Soblen immediately appealed the decision.

Attorneys for the spy appealed the decision by High Court Judge Sir John F. Stephenson to the Court of Appeals.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate has unanimously approved a tough drug reform bill and sent it to the House where prospects appeared bright.

Senate passage by a 78 to 0 vote Thursday night was a major victory for President Kennedy, who called for such legislation after disclosure that the drug thalidomide had caused birth of deformed babies.

ALGIERS (UPI) — Backers of strongman Ahmed Ben Bella claimed today the socialist-leaning chief of the Algerian Political Bureau won a test of strength during riots with supporters of the nation's military leaders.

Ben Bella was cheered by a crowd of about 15,000 Thursday night in a demonstration in which dissident military leaders tried to rally support for their cause. They appeared badly outnumbered, however.

PARIS (UPI) — The attempted assassination of President Charles de Gaulle, 71, brought demands today that the French government create the office of a vice president who would succeed the president in the event of his death.

Many political observers believe the nation would have been plunged into chaos if Wednesday night's assassination attempt on De Gaulle had succeeded.

RAVELLO, Italy (UPI) — Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy stayed home from the beach today for the first time during her Italian vacation. The usually sunny coast had scattered clouds this morning and the First Lady, after first getting picnic baskets and ice chests loaded into the cars in preparation for another beach outing, decided not to go after all.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Assistant Democratic Leader Hubert H. Humphrey, Minn., today called for U.S. assistance to Latin America to wipe out epidemics of smallpox.

Johnson in Iran for Top Level Talks

TEHRAN, Iran (UPI) — Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson was flying here today for high-level talks with Iranian officials concerned over withdrawal of American military aid funds.

The vice president, accompanied by his wife and daughter, were scheduled to arrive here from Beirut.

The highlights of Johnson's first day of his 48-hour stay were a reception by Foreign Minister Abbas Aram and a visit to the Shah's summer palace for dinner.

Johnson started his two-week goodwill tour of Middle East and Mediterranean countries Thursday in Lebanon. After arriving by presidential jet from Washington, he spent the day in Beirut mixing with people in the streets and visiting with Lebanese leaders, including President Fuad Chehab and Premier Rashid Karamé.

From Iran, the vice president will continue on to Turkey, Cyprus, Greece and Italy.

Agreement Seen on I11 Freeway

RIVERSIDE — County planning officials here indicate basic agreement with the city of Palm Springs over a possible Highway 111 freeway bypass of the resort city.

"We're not going to override them in the city itself," assistant county planner Curtis Richardson predicted Thursday.

"We've had no official notice of the county reaction to our last proposal," Richard Smith, assistant Palm Springs planning director, reported today.

The county action may be academic. The state route location is expected to be determined from state engineering data, and the results of Palm Springs area state public hearings. Public hearings in Palm Springs approximately a year and a half ago indicated widespread opposition to any freeway routing in Palm Springs. The city council, which had previously agreed on some alternate routes, withdrew the recommendations in face of strong protests from an estimated 700 residents.

Latest exchange in the phantom freeway routing came Aug. 15 when the Palm Springs Planning Commission returned a county route proposal map asking deletion of a possible routing through Palm Springs. The county route proposal would split the Palm Springs Airport from the city, and would slice through some residential districts in the northern sector of the city. The county route would divide from the present Highway 111 at the north edge of the city, and cut diagonally south-east past the airport, east of the golf course, and eastward along the Whitewater wash south side.

The Palm Springs proposal would bypass the entire city, curving southeast on a long loop extending east of the city airport, and generally following the Whitewater channel banks.

The proposed freeway route from Palm Springs into Indio snagged on stiff opposition in the Palm Springs and country club strip areas east of the famed golf city. Communities from Palm Desert to Indio had agreed, through the Coachella Valley Advisory Planning Committee, on a routing which appeared acceptable to the San Diego district of the highway department.

Problems in the Palm Springs area led Clyde V. Kane, district highway engineer, to announce last summer that his department would emphasize improvements of the road along its present alignment.

The freeway possibility might have been 20 years away, valley advisory members learned in talks last year.

Bracero Report Is Made

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy said Thursday progress has been made to safeguard interests of American farm workers against Mexican competition.

The White House made public a report to Kennedy by Labor Secretary Arthur J. Goldberg on administration of an amended law under which Mexican nationals are brought into the U.S. to meet seasonal labor shortages.

Goldberg said wages of domestic farm workers have been raised by as much as 50 cents an hour.

Kennedy had asked Secretary Goldberg to prescribe standard policies to protect wages and working conditions of domestic agricultural workers.

After operating 10 months under the new provisions, Goldberg reported to Kennedy that "very significant advances" had been made to protect domestic farm workers.

Goldberg said that from 1951 when the Mexican Farm Labor Program was first enacted until 1960, farm labor was paid at an hourly wage of 50 cents an hour in Arkansas, Missouri, Texas and New Mexico. He said the availability of braceros at these wage rates throughout this 10-year period in effect froze the wages of American farm workers.

Goldberg said that in keeping with Kennedy's request, he announced last March a wage below which he would no longer authorize employment of Mexican workers on farms in this country. This new wage standard for 24 states in which Mexican labor is used ranges from 60 cents to $1.00 an hour, Goldberg said.

Burglar Hits Local Store

Palm Springs police today are searching for a burglar who forced his way into a pool equipment store, but apparently won't go near the water.

Officers were advised at 6:22 a.m. today that the rear screen door had been torn, and the back door left open on the pool store at 196 S. Indian Avenue.

Owner Bill Hanousek surveyed the stock, and reported a table radio had been taken.

Thalidomide Return Asked

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government, noting that a large amount of the baby-deforming drug Thalidomide still has not been turned in, has urged everyone to immediately inspect their medicine cabinets and to quickly dispose of any pills they cannot identify.

The Food and Drug Administration said Thursday that its warning was based on findings in a nationwide survey of physicians who received and distributed Thalidomide for use in clinical investigation.

Prisoners Got Brutal Treatment, Says Army

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Two Americans, released last week, had been subjected to brutal treatment while they were prisoners of the Communist Pathet Lao in Laos, the Army said today.

The Army said one of the men was kept in pitch dark solitary confinement for a full year. The other was led like an animal with a rope around his neck.

The two were identified as Maj. Lawrence R. Bailey, 39, Laurel, Md., and Sgt. Orville R. Ballenger, 28, Spring Lake, N.C.

The Army revealed the brutality in an announcement that the men were being flown home and would arrive at Andrews Air Force Base, Md. today.

Both will be treated at army hospitals in the east. The Army said neither will be available for press interviews until they have recovered from the effects of their imprisonment.

Bailey, who fell into the hands of the Communist Pathet Lao in March, 1961, when he parachuted from a C47 transport disabled by ground fire, was subjected to the "black box" solitary confinement.

Both he and Ballenger resisted all efforts to break their will and turn them against the United States.

"Maj. Bailey, suffering from malnutrition, intestinal parasites and malaria, told Army authorities of spending a full year imprisoned in a pitch black room under heavy guard," the Army said.

Saw No Light
"At no time during this period of 'black box' incarceration was natural or artificial light permitted to enter his room."

The Army said his guards allowed Bailey outdoors only at night. He usually was taken outside four times nightly for periods of from one to three minutes each time.

DESERT HOT SPRINGS — A 21-year-old Palm Springs man and two juveniles have been apprehended on charges of raiding a cigarette machine here, Indio sheriff's deputies reported today.

Charles Hansen Baggesgard, 22, 816 Whispering Palms, Palm Springs, was slated for arraignment in Desert Municipal Court, Palm Springs, on the cigarette burglary charge.

Petitions on a male and female juvenile charged with participation in the burglary at the Pacella automatic laundry, Desert Hot Springs, have been filed with county juvenile authorities.

Jacobs Key to Estes?

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate investigators hoped today that red-haired Emery E. Jacobs held the string that would unravel some of the mystery surrounding Billie Sol Estes' cotton allotment dealings.

Does the Agriculture Department still harbor top officials who have not told all about alleged favored treatment given to the Texas farm tycoon?

To answer such questions the Senate investigating subcommittee, headed by Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., recalled Jacobs for a second day of testimony.

The former department official, who resigned under fire last April 13, led the subcommittee through a maze of often contradictory events Thursday.

Jacobs presented a potpourri of interoffice memoranda, threats and reversed rulings relating to Estes that gave the panel fresh areas to explore.

Jacobs was deputy administrator of the Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) that handled many of Estes' allotment transfers before he lost his job last April.

He said he first tangled with Estes in April, 1961. He testified that he rejected Estes' plea then to approve the transfer of pooled allotments from Alabama to Texas. The department cancelled the Alabama allotments and later levied a $48,000 penalty on Estes for overplanting.

Despite this, Jacobs acknowledged that he was in the vanguard of officials who "nine months later" held that disputed allotment transfers by Estes from Oklahoma in a similar manipulation should be ruled as valid.

Jacobs said that Undersecretary of Agriculture Charles S. Murphy, made the controversial decision last Jan. 6 to hold up cancellation of Estes' allotments.

Gov. Brown said that Steinberg, who lives at 797 Via Vadera and has extensive ranching operations in both the Coachella and Imperial Valleys, will head a group scheduled to make farm to farm visits; also visit growers and agricultural leaders and participate in meetings and interviews.

The governor said the group will be under the guidance of U.S. State Department officials, U. S. Agriculture Department attaches, foreign government representatives and representatives of the common market.

It was announced the tour is scheduled to last 28 days.

Steinberg to Lead Farmers Russian Trip

Lionel Steinberg of Palm Springs, vice president of the California State Board of Agriculture, will head a delegation of 50 California farm leaders in a goodwill mission to Europe, Russia and Israel starting Aug. 31.

Planned departure of the farmers led by Steinberg was announced Thursday by Gov. Edmund G. Brown as a people-to-people mission intended to "tell the story of democracy in America to face to face visitations."

Gov. Brown said that Steinberg, who lives at 797 Via Vadera and has extensive ranching operations in both the Coachella and Imperial Valleys, will head a group scheduled to make farm to farm visits; also visit growers and agricultural leaders and participate in meetings and interviews.

THOUSAND PALMS

Ex-Residents in Visit

By BEATRICE EAVES

THOUSAND PALMS — Mr. and Mrs. Ashley Alexander of Mill Valley near San Francisco, property owners and former residents of Thousand Palms have been spending the week visiting in and around the village.

They have been staying at the Amarilla Villa on Indian Trail, Palm Springs, but visited old friends like Elva Woodside on Los Flores Way and Mrs. I. Barstow of Palm Springs but formerly of Thousand Palms. On Wednesday they entertained Mrs. Woodside at a pleasant evening alongside the Amarilla Villa pool and dinner at Jeffries.

We regret to lose the Clarence Reid family as Thousand Palms residents. They report having had a wonderful summer exploring the Sierras, visiting the Seattle Fair and other places of interest in Western U.S. Clarence and daughter Jetta were in the village Friday and Saturday, seeing old friends and saying their farewells. Janet had remained in the new residence in Riverside with the rest of the family.

Word has been received that Clyde and Louella Lau are vacationing in Pennsylvania, and plan to see Niagara Falls and Detroit among other interest spots, on their way home.

likely get the decision personally soon. The Kremlin has put out feelers for a Khrushchev trip to the United States in recent weeks, but has diplomatically left the door open so far. The decision is imminent. If Khrushchev decides to go to New York he can be expected to be concocting a major propaganda drive, as well as a meeting with President John F. Kennedy for a new cold war policy review. Pitch for Neutrals His prestige enhanced by the latest Soviet space success, he may find it desirable to make a new pitch for support from neutral and uncommitted nations at the world assembly. Two years ago when he angrily banged his shoe against the table at a New York session he startled many of the leaders of newly-emerging nations. Neutral and African diplomats have on closer acquaintance, in fact, cooled off towards Russian policies. Especially in Africa Moscow has to all appearances not been doing too well. Russia suffered outright setbacks in the Congo and in Guinea. The neutrals have also appeared disenchanted with Soviet policies in Geneva where they have been asked to participate in nuclear test ban negotiations. They have seen for themselves that failure to reach a test ban is not all due to Western foot-dragging. New Campaign Design Khrushchev may want to wipe out some of these impressions with a new propaganda campaign on peace and arms-cut designs. Moreover, Khrushchev has not met with Kennedy since their tough conference in Vienna, two years ago. He has since been confronted with the new administration's determination to resist Soviet pressures in Berlin. What a new summit meeting could produce is a matter for conjecture so far. But Khrushchev has made it clear he wants more talks before signing the peace treaty with his Communist East German allies.

Chester Young Service Today

Services were conducted this morning for Chester N. Young, 56, who died Aug. 7 at Riverside. Young, who resided at 155 E. Amado Road, Palm Springs, succumbed after an illness of several weeks. He had been a Palm Springs resident for the past five years. A native of Washington state, Young was employed as a painter. He is survived by a son, Donald, in Portland, Ore., and a sister, Alma Tarter, in Klamath Falls, Oregon. Services were conducted at the Wiefels and Son chapel with the Rev. Frederick A. Barnhill of the St. Paul's in the Desert Episcopal church officiating. Interment followed at Desert Memorial Park cemetery.

FROM 30 TO 60 MINUTES Hitchcock Should Be Twice as Good

(Rick Du Brow is on vacation. Alfred Hitchcock sits in today as guest columnist, discussing his new fall series, which switches from NBC-TV to CBS-TV.)
By ALFRED HITCHCOCK
Written for UPI
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — It is not literally true that television viewers, during the coming season, will see twice as much Alfred Hitchcock as before. My diet forbids such a ghastly eventuality. At the same time that I am determined to remain a sylph of my former self, it is decidedly true that the Alfred Hitchcock Hour, as the title rather plainly implies, will endure for 60 minutes each week instead of 30 minutes, starting Sept. 20. "Sixty minutes" is, of course, a relative term. From that total must be subtracted time for commercials (that is indeed a temptation), as well as time for my "lead-ins." As long as the public seems willing to abide my presence on the screen, I shall make my brief appearance on the show, even at the risk of exposing myself to the indignities of being an actor. Despite the sponsors' infringements upon our time, the one-hour period will allow us to tell full dramatic stories in natural narrative style, whereas the half-hour show permitted us only short tales that led to a "twist" ending. We are often asked how we have managed to find enough stories to sustain a mystery series over seven years' time. The query always reminds me of my arrival in Hollywood some years ago, when a studio representative accompanied me on the train from New York. He mentioned several movies, asking whether I had seen them. "No," I replied. "I don't see many movies." The studio man said, "If you don't go to movies, where do you get your ideas from?" We definitely do not get our ideas for the Alfred Hitchcock Hour from the late, late shows. In doing an anthology of one-hour dramas, we are in fact able to derive stories from all literary sources, not only originals but novels and all manner and length of published works. The half-hour form had limited us to short stories.

CALIFORNIA VS. NEW YORK Mammoth Battle Brews

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—An argument of mammoth proportions is brewing between the governors of the nation's two most populous states—California and New York. The points of dispute are many: population, per capita income, research, education, taxes, and even baseball. California Gov. Edmund G. Brown, who seems to be enjoying the argument, calls it a game of "Can you top this?" "If we mention the employment rate, they bring up the unemployment rate," said Brown. "If we talk about the Dodgers and the Giants, they bring up the Yankees." The first pitch was thrown by New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller last June 14. He said that more than three times as many new industrial plants have been built or started in New York in the past year than in California and he noted that California's indebtedness has been "soaring" while New York's has been dropping. Rockefeller also said that New York's per capita income is $2,539 while California's is $2,784 and the Empire State has 947 industrial laboratories to 576 for the Golden Bear State. In addition, he said, New York can match 345,000 students enrolled in four year college courses to 231,255 for California. Besides, Rockefeller said, New York averages $258 in aid to public school students from the state while California grants $189. Brown Fires Back Obviously, Brown couldn't sit still for a blast like that. On the subject of new plants, Brown fired back that "the reverse is more likely true" although conceding that neither state has an accurate record. About employment, Brown said the number of wage and salary workers in New York increased by 3.4 per cent between February 1958 and February 1962 while California's increased by 14.2 per cent. He also cited a magazine story listing California as the first choice of the nation's business leaders for new plants. He also said California has 448,000 college and university students while New York had 350,000 and the state's residents earned a total of $46 billion last year. But this was only inning No. 1. The second will come in a short while with Brown's expected announcement that California will become the most populous state in the nation. On Jan. 7, Brown predicted California will pass New York this year to become the most populous in the nation—and set the exact date at Dec. 21. "On that day, the balance of the most powerful nation in the world will shift from the Atlantic to the Pacific," said Brown. "California with its dynamic growth, its vigor and vision will take its rightful position on the top."

Officer Marge Bowman--a Policeman in Earrings

Long Hours
Spent with Juveniles

By LEE CHRISTOPHER

The boy had a heavy thatch of straw-blond hair and a spattering of freckles flung across his nose. He also had an engaging grin. He was 13 years old — with three counts of forgery against him, plus an assortment of petty theft charges amounting to $4.15.

Released to Officer Bowman on informal probation, he had been ordered to water yards and do other small jobs to earn that exact sum, and then to go with the officer to return the money to the various stores he had pilfered—a task now accomplished. He and his mother were making their regular Friday probationary call at the police station.

But there was something different this morning. He was all bubbling and excited, and his blue-green eyes were vivid and alive with an inner happy secret. He clutched a brown paper bag in one thoroughly scrubbed hand.

"Now, Mom?" he pleaded. "Now," she answered, and the youngster anxiously opened his bag and handed Officer Bowman a large box of candy.

"I made all the money for the candy myself," he said, with desperate seriousness. "You've been swell, and I wanted you to have something. Here." And he sighed with the satisfaction of a job well done.

Later, in telling the story, Officer Bowman said, "I was in quite a quandary, for, of course, we are not permitted ever to take gifts of any kind. But he was so anxious and so proud of himself, I took a chance and bent the rules a little — for I just couldn't bear to

OFFICER BOWMAN talks over a problem with a young girl who has come to the attention of the Police Department. Understanding and intelligent sympathy rather than punishment is the aim of the department's only woman officer.

dim the light in that youngster's eyes."

And that describes Officer Bowman in a nutshell. She was willing to bend the rules a little so she wouldn't have to dim the light of genuine accomplishment in the eyes of a boy going along the right path for probably the first time.

Yes — she. For Marge Bowman is the ONLY woman police officer in the Palm Springs Police Department. You will see other women in the department, but these are police clerks — and in the autumn, there will be "Meter Maids". Marge is a fully qualified police officer, on an equal footing with the men on the force and charged with equal responsibilities.

A policeman in earrings. Trim in her uniform of beige blouse and straight skirt of "officer pinks," with every dark hair of her smartly coiffed head in place, she is warm-voiced, richly understanding, and feminine, with a delightful smile and quiet way about her. She also stands firm along the firing line at the police pistol range to earn her qualification, and, if necessary, can toss a big man over her slim shoulder as a part of "self-defensive tactics."

And most important of all, she has gained the sincere respect and deep affection of every man on the force.

She has a big job, for she handles all cases involving "female juveniles" that come to the attention of the Palm Springs Police Department. Make no mistake about it, this is not a social service worker. This is a police officer, with the point of view and the dedication to her job that characterizes every man on the force.

A Housewife, Too

In private life, she is Mrs. Herbert C. Bowman, whose husband is associated with Massey Rock and Sand Co., and whose son, David, is married and lives in Whittier. The Bownmans have a charming small home in Cathedral City at 68-570 H St.

Like all women, she is always changing the furniture. Currently, she is in the process of switching from Salem maple to Danish modern — and she yearns, naturally, for a built-in kitchen.

It is this womanly interest in the home that makes her so good at her job — a job for which she had no previous training, and in which, sometimes, she is surprised to find herself.

Marge Bowman comes originally from Dallas, Texas, where she was educated and where she was infected with the low-voiced drawl that still colors her speech. She and her husband came to the desert from Los Angeles in October of 1954, mainly for the health of their son — an asthmatic now cured, and bought the home they now occupy in Cathedral City.

New Job

With a background of secretarial work behind her, she took a job in Palm Springs at the city hall as a summer replacement in the city treasurer's office. Her quiet efficiency and gentle humor captured the attention of the Chief of Police Gus Kettmann, and he offered her a job as a police clerk.

She fitted so naturally into her new post that she soon found herself serving in a variety of jobs, such as radio dispatcher and secretary to Chief Kettmann for eight months. In May of 1957, she was assigned as secretary to the Detective Bureau, and found herself working with the officers on cases which involved female offenders.

She became fascinated with her job, and decided to learn more about it. In the summer of 1959, she spent her vacation attending a police officers institute at UCLA, studying such subjects as "Advanced Criminal Investigation," "Criminal Law," "Sex Crimes Investigation," and "Criminal Evidence."

This gave her such a new insight into her work, that she spent her vacation of 1960 at the University of California Extension Center in San Francisco learning about "Narcotics Investigation," "Vice," and "Advanced Interrogation."

One Alone

She was the only woman attending the classes, and at first she was regarded with some skepticism. But the fact that she minded her p's and q's . . . that she studied hard and could answer questions in class with intelligence . . . that she stayed pretty much to herself . . . and that she asked no quarter because she was a woman, soon gained her the respect of the many police chiefs and other high-ranking officers attending the seminar.

In the meantime, Chief Kettmann was growing ever more conscious of the need for another officer on the force to work solely with juveniles. Lt. Robert White requested that the Palm Springs Police Department follow the path of other departments throughout the United States and make that officer a woman; further that that woman be Marge Bowman.

Chief Kettmann, whom Mrs. Bowman describes as "one of the most progressive department heads in the country," agreed, and in October of 1960, she received her temporary appointment — which has now become permanent.

Juvenile Delinquency

Gravely concerned about the problem of juvenile delinquency, with which she is involved constantly, Mrs. Bowman can offer no conclusive evidence as to its causes — can only make suggestions for its cure.

"Many factors lead to the delinquency of a juvenile," she believes, "her associates, her home environment, her personality, and the manner in which her early mistakes are handled."

"Our experiences here have shown that there is less delinquency where children are kept busy. I believe strongly that parents should encourage their children to take after-school and summertime jobs, even where there is no financial need. Then there is no time for getting into that mischief which can lead to delinquency."

Less Trouble Here

Records show that Palm Springs has less juvenile trouble than other towns of comparable size, Mrs. Bowman says — and adds, "except, maybe, in Easter Week, when more than 5,000 vacationing teenagers from Los Angeles and the Coastal areas 'invade' the desert."

She gives credit for Palm Springs' enviable record to the Boys Club, the Youth Center, Boy and Girl Scouts, and other organizations working with young people.

Summer Ideas

Give pancakes a south of the border flavor with cheese and chili. Make pancakes from your favorite mix and bake as label directs. Place 1 slice of processed cheese on each hot pancake and fold over. Top with heated canned chili.

Bread Leftover Use

One or two pieces of leftover day-old corn bread make a delicious garnish for vegetable salad. Crumble the bread coarsely and brown in a small amount of melted butter. Season to taste with garlic or onion salt. Sprinkle the warm crumbs over the salad. One medium slice of corn bread makes about 1/2 cup of crumbs.

OFF DUTY, Officer Bowman becomes Mrs. Herbert C. Bowman, interested in her home, her son and husband, pretty clothes, and a wide circle of interesting friends.

She also lauds Chief Kettmann and his attitude toward the problem. "After speaking with the police chiefs, captains, and other officers at the police schools I have attended," Mrs. Bowman says, "I know of no other officer in the state with the same interest in the problem of juvenile delinquency as Chief Kettmann. His concern permeates his entire staff."

No Time Clock

Officer Bowman has no regular working hours. Her day might begin at 9 o'clock in the morning and end the following morning at 2:30. She is always on call — and is usually called.

"Even if I am going out at 8 o'clock in the evening, I have learned to take my sun glasses with me," she laughs, "for that sun can be awfully bright coming up in the morning."

Not only does she handle all cases involving young girls, but she must also write lengthy reports on every case — and attend in-service training classes at least once a week. "We study all the time," she says, "because every new court decision can change the manner in which an individual case is handled."

Hand Holding

Mrs. Bowman says that hers is a "hand-holding job," helping both parents and children to reach an understanding of their mutual problem, and assisting parents to maintain control. "It requires understanding, infinite patience, and a genuine interest in each individual," she points out, "but I wouldn't want to be doing anything else. My job gives me enormous satisfaction."

And she gives enormous satisfaction in her job. "The fine influence of a woman officer in working with young people has been conclusively demon-

FISH HAVE ANCIENT HISTORY
The ancient Egyptians ate many kinds of fish, either salted or dried in the sun. This practice continued through the Middle Ages when lobsters, oysters, seals, and whales were also salted and dried. The marketing of live fish, however, was developed in the 19th Century, when boats were built with large water storage tanks, or bins, to hold salt and ice. By the end of the century, artificial ice factories were built at the leading fishing ports.

DESERT GARDENING

Pelargonium Will Take The Local Summer Heat

At some time or other the name "Poor Man's Azaleas" was wished on a Pelargonium called Martha Washington, now we find the same name ascribed to even the Geranium type of Pelargonium.

Of the two, the green crissply-leaved Pelargonium can withstand our summer heat better than the flat-leaved geranium and is not as scraggy and leafless in the hot months. Granted its gorgeous blooms show up only from March to June while the so-called Geraniums are likely to bloom longer than the Pelargoniums, we point to the Martha Washington with the most pride.

Planting these flowers without shade can be nothing but hopeless. If the gardener insists on planting Pelargoniums without shade he will watch them die as they are exposed to any more than the first two hours of the morning sun.

Irrigation is Touchy
Over copiously watering these plants is another deterrent to their growth. Along the coast and in some inner valleys both of these need little attention and produce copious blooms, here the opposite pertains unless handled as in a greenhouse.

The time is fast approaching when pruning your rosebushes that have gone through a tough summer becomes a must. We have found it advisable to delay the pruning until the fifteenth of September has slipped by. We have on several occasions—found the first half of September matching early August but seldom does the fifteenth of September failed to herald in the cooler climates.

Roses Need Attention
We look forward as to pruning as the main project of the year. Heaviest should be tackled at that time, leaving to February the lesser chore. When completed September's rose bushes should contain four to six up-rights only and no cross offshoots. When this is completed give each bed a feeding of Rose Food in a circular trench three to four inches from the bud-union. Lightly cover the rose with soil then very lightly spread iron sulphate or iron chelate on the surface.

Water regularly and be guided by atmospheric conditions. However, in our desert we have never contacted roses that have died through over watering; the reason for such the leaching of water through the fine sand.

Dicentra Aggravating
We have to admit that the most aggravating lawn to grow in our desert is a dicentra lawn. This we know from experience. However, this is the third year and now a mass of lipia, pantain and other weeds have got into the game.

We are now dickering with thoughts of tearing up the smaller lawn, removing all except the Bauhinia and Palm Tree, and fill it in with white pebbles. By doing this we can at least clear out the bed of the Perseanthia hedge. In a recent article we mentioned three better species of Bermuda cuttings either of which have proven ideal for planting a year-round lawn in the desert. None of them have the wandering habits of the old Bermuda, in fact some species have already been used on golf courses with success.

OLD HOMES, trash and debris — seen here in the foreground of steelwork for Palm Springs' new Spa Hotel — will be cleared away from proximity to the new hostelry.

The clearance project is to make way for new parking space and other hotel facilities.

Homes Ready Clearance Project Set In Palm City

PALM CITY —Immediate occupancy of two — and three-bedroom retirement homes in the Palm City second unit is now offered, it was announced by the builders of the $30 million senior citizens community near Palm Springs.

Developer Nels G. Severin pointed out that not only is a complete selection of seven floor plans and 31 exteriors available, community facilities have been completed. These include neighborhood shopping center, medical-dental building, nine holes of an 18-hole golf course, arts and crafts building and a complete recreation center.

The more than 850 residents over 50 years of age currently living in Palm City are entering enthusiastically into the community's complete program of recreational activities, Severin added. Among these are drama, art, music, photography, ceramics, sports of various kinds, hiking, rock study, bridge, canasta, and various crafts and hobbies, in addition to travel.

The fast-growing 560-acre desert retirement community will have 1800 units and a population of about 3,700 by the end of 1963. Palm City homes, designed by architect, William M. Bray, AIA, have won several national awards for quality and design.

A building clearance project will be started Sept. 5 to clean off an eight-acre parcel adjoining the site of the new Palm Springs Spa, according to Eddie Davidson, executive director of the hostelry. Davidson reported that the site

New Stamp Cites Builders

LOS ANGELES — Twenty-fifth anniversary of the construction industry's national apprenticeship program will be observed Aug. 31, with the issuance of a commemorative 4-cent postage stamp designed to stimulate interest in training of young craftsmen.

Richard M. Lane, chairman of the apprenticeship and training committee of the Southern California chapter of Associated General Contractors, said the first day sales of the new stamp will be restricted to Washington, D.C. On the following day, September 1, it will be available in Los Angeles and at other post offices throughout the country.

Currently, there are more than 7,500 involved in the contractor-labor sponsored apprenticeship programs in California.

Prisoners Up

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The number of prisoners in federal, state and local prisons reached a record high of 220,329 at the end of 1961, according to the Federal Bureau of Prisons. This was a 3.5 per cent increase over 1960.

includes a square block from Encilia to El Segundo and from Andreas to McCallum. The additional acreage will be added to the development of the Spa and the Spa Hotel, he said, in the form of parking and other facilities. A block wall, similar to one that exists around the present Spa parking lot, will encircle the new area.

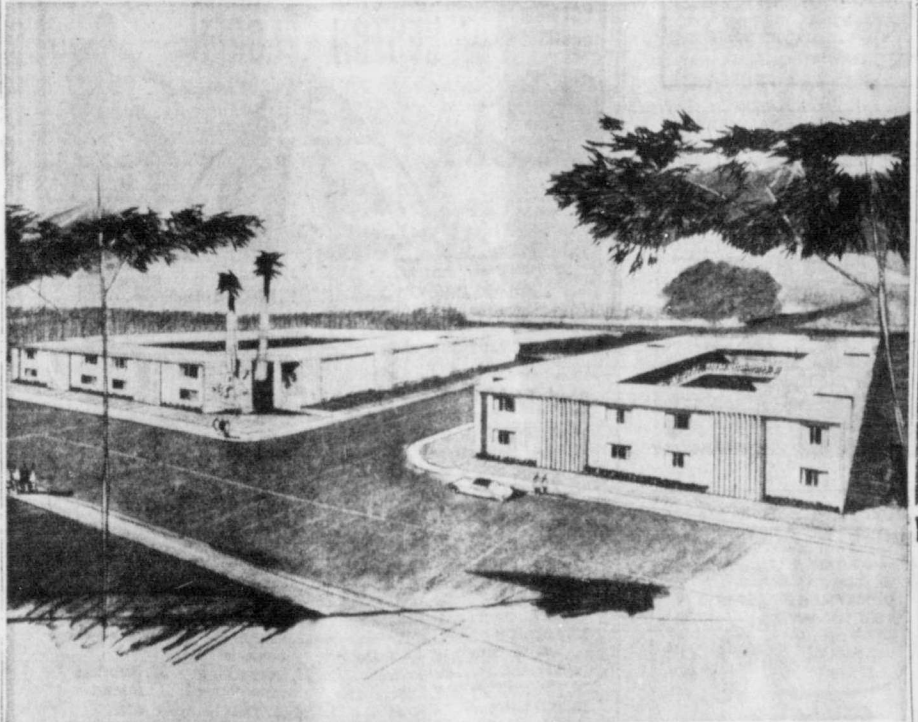

Tenants in the area were given a 30-day vacation notice on July 11, according to Davidson, who reported that the clearing work must be started early in September in order that the area can be developed to coincide with the finishing of the new Spa Hotel plans.

All buildings in the area which the owners do not remove will be burned or demolished by bulldozers, according to builders.

Other plans for the project include the widening of Encilia from McCallum to Andreas and Andreas from Encilia to El Segundo.

The property is leased by Samuel W. Banowitz, president of National Properties, from Priscilla Patencio Gonzales, John J. Patencio, Joseph P. Paten and Beverly Patencio Diaz.

The Spa is scheduled to open Sept. 28, while the hotel construction is due to be completed by early 1963.

SIXTY FOUR apartments designed by the Howard Lephem Studios of Palm Springs are contained in two groups of four buildings at Avenue 44 and Arabia St., Indio. Developed by George and Robert Alexander, Leo Hirsh and Samuel Firs, the apartments are equipped with built-in kitchens, wall-to-wall carpeting, refrigerated cooling and each has a separate carport. Some are restricted for adults only. Others are for family living.

Springs May Get Meet

RIVERSIDE — An invitation to the County Supervisors Association of California to hold its 1964 annual meeting in Palm Springs was extended by the Riverside County board of supervisors.

"I won't be here," said Supervisor George Berkey who retires at the end of this year, "but I would like to see this board invite the association back to Palm Springs."

It was the consensus that the convention they held in Palm Springs last year was the best they've ever had. They just might come back!

Weekend at the Beach—It's Perilous Recreation

By DICK WEST
WASHINGTON (UPI)—A weekend, at the beach is, under the best of conditions, rather perilous recreation.
If you are lucky enough to avoid sunburn, shark bites and drowning, the chances are good that one of those musclebound nuts who insist on exercising will flatten you with a beach ball.
To this formidable array of natural hazards has just been added an artificial menace: Politicians.
Almost everywhere that you looked last weekend, what was left of serenity at the shore was being shattered by office-seekers who have suddenly discovered that a sand spit usually contains a ready-made, pre-cooked audience.
Dip Was Typical
President Kennedy's trip to the West Coast was billed as non-political and he is not up for reelection this year. But his dip in the Pacific was typical of what this type of campaigning can lead to.
Bathers who were peacefully enjoying the sea air at Santa Monica found themselves being swarmed over by a tidal wave of President watchers, some of whom followed Kennedy into the surf fully clothed.
They must have thought they were at one of Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy's poolside parties.
One reporter described the scene at Santa Monica as "reminiscent of Coney Island," perhaps not knowing how right he was.
Coney Island happened to be one of the four New York beaches that Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller chose to stump last Sunday.
Descended By Helicopter
Descending on the half-baked hordes by helicopter, Rockefeller went around eating hot dogs, shaking hands and kissing babies. There is no telling how many votes he lost by slapping backs that already had absorbed too much sun.
The Republicans set up loudspeakers, which a beach needs like a hurricane. The Democrat walked about introducing himself to sunbathers, who previously had only sand fleas to disturb them.
The way things are going, America's beaches will soon have more candidates than sand crabs. I personally view the situation with alarm, but there is one small consolation.
At least the candidates won't be handing out campaign buttons. Swim suits being what they are today, there is no place to pin them.

Two Must Go Together

The Chamber of Commerce of the United States is one of the many groups which favors substantial tax reductions as a spur to lagging business.

At the same time, the Chamber emphasized the need for an accompanying rigid economy program in government. In its view, cuts of more than $5 billion could be made in the budget for fiscal 1963 without harm to any essential program or service.

The Chamber's tax reduction plan involves several steps: A cut in top bracket individual income tax rates from 91 per cent to 65 per cent; splitting of the lowest individual tax bracket, with a 15 per cent rate on the lower portion; proportionate adjustment of the rates between the maximum and the minimum; reduction of the corporate tax rate from the present 52 per cent to 47 per cent. The result would be a spur to consumer spending and, more important in the long run, stimulated capital investment by enterprise. This is the source of more better jobs—just as it is the source of more tax revenues in the future.

But—a big cut in taxes without a cut in spending could prove disastrous.

Other Editors

The much talked about program of "fiscal responsibility" that Governor Brown declared he would pursue when he took office has apparently hit a snag insofar as one facet of state government is concerned.

This appears in the state's disability insurance program, which so far this year has had revenues of $53 million, and has disbursed near $64 million to claimants, according to the latest report of the Department of Employment.

Last year through May, the department's report shows $61 million received in premiums, and a total of $57 million paid out in benefits. However, $15 million of the receipts was transferred from the unemployment fund to the disability fund, which means the fund operated during that period at an $11 million loss.

Just how long the administration can operate the disability program in the red is not known. It's reasonably well anticipated, however, that there will be no moves to correct the inclement situation until after the November election.

At this point, it might be observed that when a private insurance concern is operating in the red, it is subject to seizure by the state as a menace to public welfare. But the state fund is privileged. It is financed with the taxpayers' money.

The unsavory situation is heightened by the massive struggle going on between labor on the one hand to write disability insurance carriers out of business, and the private concerns to retain a portion of the business.

Private carriers recently obtained an injunction in Sacramento county superior court to prevent Irving Perless, director of employment, from putting into effect regulations affecting adverse selection of insured persons. Adverse selection means choosing of clients which would affect the state fund

Fact of the matter is, however, that even a supreme court decision will not solve the primary issue at hand, which is the solvency of the disability fund. Only added taxes, to keep up with the liberal provisions of claim payments can solve this problem.

Politicians don't talk about added taxes during an election campaign, this is a well known fact.

—Hemet News

"The road to socialism is plain to see. The administration, however, can shift its course and start in earnest to travel the road of sound capitalism and free enterprise. It cannot assume the function of an omniscient supervisor with a club in his hand. It must let the laws of supply and demand and of competitive influences operate. Then labor will find itself compelled to become realistic, too, and there will be a pause in excessive wage demands and a chance for American business to get on its feet again."

—David Lawrence

HOLMES ALEXANDER:

A Straight Thinker from Hawaii

WASHINGTON — It turns out that the Senate got itself a no-nonsense man in the person of Hiram Fong (R. Hawaii) who turned up to represent the 50th State toward the end of the 1959 session.

By now his colleagues have perceived that, while Fong is the first Oriental, a full-blooded Chinese, to serve in the upper body, the facts of his birth and good-natured Far Eastern appearance are the least important things about this 54-year-old rough-and-tumble politico, a Harvard Law School graduate who was 14 years in the Hawaiian House and three times its Speaker.

No-nonsense is the key to the Fong character. The son of an indentured laborer who went to the Islands from Canton, Fong helped himself to education at McKinley High School and the University of Hawaii by working at many juvenile jobs from bean-picker to golf caddy. He put in two years as a clerk at the Pearl Harbor Navy Yard to earn the money to go to Harvard.

Battled Up The Ladder
Later, as city-county attorney and in private practice, he had to battle his way up the political ladder. Twice his opponents tried to prevent him from taking his House seat on legal technicalities, but he won out.

Once he engaged in a robust hollering match with an opponent who accused him of throwing parties and distributing bills whenever he wanted to get a bill through. Another time he squared off in a fist fight with an enraged legislator, but instead of dramatizing the encounter, Fong dismissed it to reporters as a one-punch fracas in which he was on the receiving end and for which his adversary quickly apologized.

As a Senator of Oriental lineage, Fong decided he should learn more about the region, so after his first session he paid his own way on an extended Far Eastern trip. A friend of mine saw him at a public meeting in Taipei where the first several rows of seats were reserved for Nationalist China law-makers and where the first question was:

He's an American
"You're a Chinese, so what are you going to do for us?"
"No, I'm an American," snapped Fong. "I'm Senator from Hawaii, and I'm not Senator from Taiwan."

To this day, Orientals of all kinds who arrive in Washington make a beeline for Fong's office. He understands why this is so and tries to be cooperative, but when they try the ancestral approach for special favors he sets them straight in a manner which puts his message across with no chance of further misunderstanding.

Fong is tough-minded about everything. He doesn't mind saying that he smothered a Fair Employment Practices bill when he was Speaker for the realistic reason that there was no need for it in Hawaii, where the races voluntarily mingle. On the other hand, and to the dismay of bleeding heart equalizers, he sees no sense in forced race-mixing:

"You may some day say that I can't join the Pacific Club, or I can't join the Country Club, and that may be a little discrimination . . . I say some groups have a right to whomever they want to be members. There are certain groups that want to preserve the culture of a certain country, for example all French people would like to have a French-speaking Society, and because I could not join such a society, I would not call it discrimination."

Opposed Administration
Yet the same hard-headed logic tells him that our immigration quotas on Far Eastern races are unrealistically low. As a member of the Judiciary Subcommittee on Immigration, he favors the admission of more Orientals — possibly the only instance where his center of gravity is East of the Senate majority. On Medicare he opposed the Administration because he thought its bill was awkward and unfair, though he favors care for the aged, and was co-sponsor of the Saltonstall substitute for a voluntary, workable plan.

All Senators soon discover that there is a limit to what they can personally learn about the torrent of new legislation and the mound of old, unacted measures. The drug bill, for example, has been laying around for three years, and suddenly there is a demand for passage despite the impossibility of combing all the testimony.

"This is one of the times when a Senator has to move on faith," says Fong. "He has to associate himself with colleagues of a congenial viewpoint and philosophy, and rely on them to help make up his mind."

Where knowledge ends, faith begins. There is no nonsense about that principle, either.

THIS SIDE Of The Sun

R. F. "Phat" GRAETTINGER

Eight Twenty-Four, Just one week more, And then it comes September. When summer's heat Starts to retreat, Two months to cool November Anyway, cooler. The indolent season is on its last legs. You can see the signs everywhere.

THE NEWSPAPERS are beginning to blossom with advertisements suggesting items to outfit the Little Deers for the approaching school days.

They are Little Deers if they are your grandchildren or your own who have been away at some summer camp.

Otherwise, they are Little Brats, Fiends or Monsters, depending on the depth of your cynicism or height of your vocabulary. Most of the neighbors' kids are in this category.

MOTHERS are beginning to perk up. In just a few weeks the kids will be out under foot. The days of the raids on the refrigerator, socks under the sofa, shoes in the middle of the living room and smelly blue jeans in the sewing basket are waning. There'll be fewer sprints to the medicine cabinet for disinfectants, bandages and castor oil.

School days, dear old golden rule days — let the teachers count to ten.

Peace, it's wonderful.

THE ARTISTS who draw the children in the school, clothing ads are wonderful too but they are not realistic. They live in a dream world.

The kids may look so adorable in the early a.m. before they take off for the school bus. But before the bus driver is pinked behind the ear with the first spitball, their shirt tails will be flapping and one sneaker untied. At least one.

DON'T GET me wrong. I like children. It depends, of course, on whose and where they are at the time. Like that guy said so long ago about absence. It makes the heart grow fonder and also less lumpy.

But if it wasn't for those kids with their shining, fresh, and I mean fresh, young faces, who'd grow up to be those women who give you the shoulder block while they punch vegetables and fruits in the super markets? Or to be men who drip mustard down your back at the Stadium?

And no Fathers' Day. Let the women worry about Mothers' Day.

TODAY'S KIDS are smart, too. A woman was telling me that she lost her purse while walking home and about an hour later a newsboy rang her doorbell.

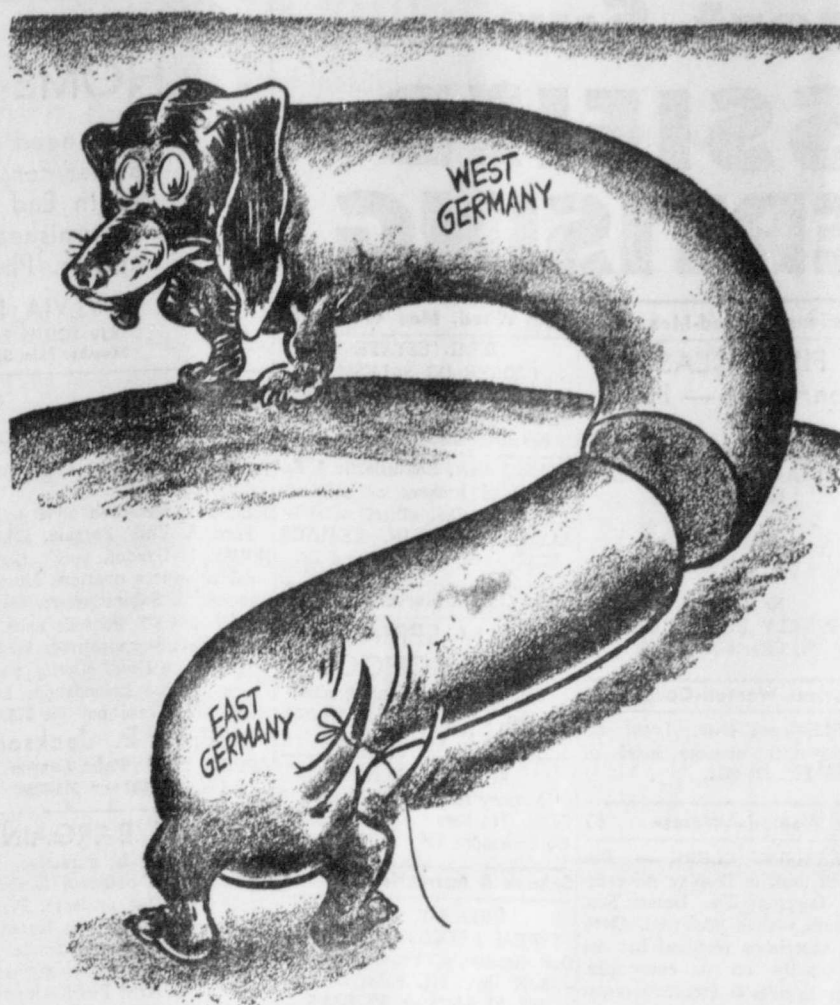

"Lady, is this your purse? I think I seen you drop it right ahead of me," he said.

"Why, yes, it is. Thank you so much, little man. But this is odd. I'm sure there was only one $10 bill in it when I lost it. Now there are ten ones."

"I know," said the kid. "But the last time this happened to me, the lady didn't have no change."

And in the Wall Street Journal I read that anyone who thinks the kids of today aren't creative has never watched one build himself a sandwich.

Still Trying to Wag the Dog

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN:

Dear Abby . . .

DEAR ABBY: My co-worker goes for every goofy fad he hears about. His latest is phrenology, which is having the bumps on his head read by a nut who calls himself a phrenologist. I told him he is throwing his money away (he pays $5 a reading and goes once a week) but he tells me he has found out a lot about his past and future through these bumps. Is there anything to this or am I behind the times?

FOREMAN
DEAR FOREMAN: The bumps on your co-worker's head could be caused by the rocks inside. You are not behind the times, your co-worker is. Wish him a speedy recovery.

DEAR ABBY: I have been married for six years and have never suspected my wife of anything. While searching for a match I looked in her coat pocket and came across a letter (addressed to her mother's house). I became curious and read the following:

"It was so good to hear your voice again, Darling. I am glad you still feel the same about me. As long as you don't love your husband, how long will it take you to get a divorce?"

I have not told her I read the letter. I was so hurt I just froze. The letter was signed with an initial which meant nothing to me. Where do I go from here? P.S. Yes, we have children.

SICK
DEAR SICK: Go to your wife and tell her you read the letter. The next move is hers.

DEAR ABBY: I am considered the DEAR ABBY of our crowd. I have helped solve the love problems (and even marriage problems) of other people, but I can't seem to solve my own.

I am almost 17 and HE is 18. He used to like me a lot once, but not any more. I don't know what I did to turn him against me, but he has no interest in me whatsoever. I can't forget him and I won't give up hope. How can I get him to like me again?

Sign me—SCHMO
DEAR SCHMO: The most frustrating of all projects is trying to get someone to "like you" again, once his ardor has cooled. Warm up your soup is never as good. Give up! (And he might wonder why, and start chasing you!)

Remember When
August 24, 1952
Formal charges of murder were filed against John Chauncey Lawrence, 37, of Redlands in Riverside municipal court. He is charged with the killing of Katherine Knodels, 16, of Redlands and dumping her body on East Ramon Road. The girl was his niece.

Homer Varner, Fourth District supervisor, who underwent a leg amputation operation in Los Angeles, was removed to a Coachella Hospital. He says he'll return to his duties at the county courthouse next month in a "wheel chair."

Moon-Moon softball baseball team defeated the Youth Center 14-5 and won the right to meet Desert Hot Springs in the Desert Softball League Mayor's Cup playoffs.

The main unit of the Cahuilla Hotel and Apartments at 1743 North Palm Canyon Drive, was swept by a six-hour fire. Fire chief Bill Leonosio said the blaze was probably caused by spontaneous combustion and estimated the loss at between $25,000 and $30,000.

R. M. Gorham, postmaster, announced a supply of V mail letters to men in the armed services overseas were available at the post office.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Crocker and two sons left for Laguna Beach for a belated vacation.

Chairman R. H. Whitsett of the Metropolitan Water District said that the petition of a Los Angeles taxpayers group would not delay the start of work on the aqueduct.

August temperatures were boiling up to the 116s and 117s but the dry nights offered relief.

QUOTES

There is a lot of fiction and fog around the words conservative and liberal. My idea of a conservative is one who desires to retain the wisdom and the experience of the past, and who is prepared to apply the best of that wisdom and experience to meet the changes which are inevitable in every new generation.

Herbert Hoover

QUOTES

"President Kennedy has made a serious mistake in declaring that the recent vote in the Senate against his medical - care plan should be made an issue in the coming congressional elections. For, it may be asked, which party will the President hold responsible for the defeat of his plan? Will it be the Republican Party, five of whose prominent members voted with the President? Will it be the Democratic Party, 21 of whose Senators voted against the President? Or will Mr. Kennedy campaign against both the Democratic and Republican Senators who did not vote with him and who are up for re-election?"

David Lawrence
U.S. News & World Report
August 24, 1962
"We the voters . . . have demanded more and more government benefits and have complacently accepted as inevitable the present huge federal government. We have insisted an 'our share' and have often voted for the candidate who promised to bring home the most federal 'boodle'. That should not be surprised that some of our Representatives and Senators in Washington are sacrificing principle for dollars — they only reflect the 'money talks' philosophy of too many citizens. We, the voters, have the power to change the attitude of our elected representatives — both in the Congress and in the executive branch of government. This is an election year. A resounding defeat at the polls of the big spenders would be heard not only on Capitol Hill but in the White House as well."

President Charles B. Shuman, Announcer Farm Bureau Federation

ALL IS SERENE

The Clancys are on speaking terms again. They finally bought an Alexander built home in Racquet Club Road Estates. The Missus proved to Papa Clancy that the Carpets, Drapes and Landscaping were the same as in the model, and that this 3 bedroom 2 bath home at $21,500 was the greatest bargain they had found. She also convinced him that there was plenty of room for the kids and all the Clancy clan. Now—all they had to decide was whether they would pay $1,250 down or use their vacant lot as part payment.

Why not see Charlie at the furnished model and let him tell you how it all happened?

Angels Win 'Must' Game, 5 to 4

YANKEE ROGER MARIS chases Lee Thomas' double into the right field corner in Chavez Ravine Thursday afternoon during the first inning of the third game. The Angels trailed the Yanks 4-0 at one time, but fought back to tie the game and win, 5-4, in the 13th inning. (UPI Telephoto)

13 Inning Thriller Is Another Cliffhanger

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The Los Angeles Angels, baseball's foremost cliffhangers, made a determined effort to return to earth today after a "must" victory over the New York Yankees that kept them in the American League pennant race.

WITHDREW FROM WBA
MONTREAL (UPI) — The Montreal Athletic Commission withdrew from the World Boxing Association Thursday because the WBA has upheld the suspension of Canadian heavyweight champion Bob Cleroux by the Ontario Boxing Commission.

The Angels moved back into second place, since Minnesota lost two to Washington.

Bill Rigney, obviously jubilant after the Angels rallied for a 5-4 victory in 13 innings Thursday in the series finale with the Yankees nominated Ted Bowfield, 8-6 to pitch tonight's game with the Chicago White Sox. Ray Herbert, 13-7, was his opposition.

Manager Ralph Houk of the Yankees refused to be ruffled by the fact his charges blew a 4-0 lead and left town only five games in front of the Angels instead of seven. "We're still better off than when we came to town," said Houk. Then, after a pause, he commented, "we've lost tougher than that a lot tougher. And we've won a couple, too."

The Yankees won two of the three games in the set.

Whether Bill Stafford, a Yankee starter seeing his second duty in relief, would share his manager's opinion might be open to question.

Thomas Boys Star

It was Stafford who yielded the game-winning double to George Thomas, recently plucked from less-nervous wrecking arm life, in the 13th after Lee Thomas opened with a single. The two-bagger shot into the left field corner despite Cletus Boyer's valiant dive.

But George wasn't the only hero. Two others — relief pitcher Dan Osinski and second baseman Billy Moran — each shared in the glory. Moran drove in three runs with his 14th and 15th homers, the last tying the score in the eighth.

Osinski, a young man who has spent several seasons learning his trade in the minors, shut out New York on three hits in five innings to win his fourth game against two defeats. "It was the biggest thrill for me," said Osinski, who conceded he got a little "greedy" in the 12th — the most harrowing of all innings for the Angels fans.

Bags Jammed in 12th

In that inning, the Yankees loaded the bases with nobody out on a hit, error and walk. While most observers figured the Angels would settle for one run and hope to recoup, Dan said he got "greedy." He made Boyer ground into a force play at home and retired Dale Long on a pop fly. Then Tom Tresh fled out to left, ending the frame. Tresh earlier provided the Yankees with a four run bulge in the second when he offed a three-run homer into the right field seats.

"He was great," said Rigney of Osinski.

Houk was asked why he didn't try a squeeze play in the 12th. "Why take a chance on a squeeze when the power his club has?" asked the Yankee plot. "A fly ball was all we needed."

Houk was acutely aware of the number of games left in the long season, 36. Asked about the pennant race from this point on, he remarked, in a traditional format, "we'll play them one by one." Rigney pointed out the Yankees used four pitchers in defeat, a costly undertaking. But he has worries of his own on that score, since lefty Bo Belinsky has a bruise on his pitching hand that may cause him to miss a turn. Ken McBride is still sidelined to add to his woes.

A crowd of 28,392 watched the game, bringing the Angels to within less than 2,000 of the 1,000,000 mark. They have attracted 998,153 fans to Chavez Ravine.

Exciting Bull Fights at Tijuana Arena This Sunday

TIJUANA, Mex. — Six fighting bulls from La Punta, the world's largest and the best of Mexican bull breeding ranches, are being featured for this Sunday's corrida at the old downtown plaza of El Toreo de Tijuana.

Veteran Antonio Velazquez and spectacular Jaime Bravo, two Mexican matadores well known hereabouts, will share these bulls with Enrique Vera, a stylish bullfighter from Spain now campaigning in Mexico.

La Punta Ranch, located in the State of Jalisco, was founded in 1925 by its present owners Jose and Francisco Madrazo, with imported bulls and cows of the finest Spanish breeds. Known for their bravery and tremendous power, the La Punta bulls have accounted for some of the best performances locally. This includes the greatest of all by Jose Ramon Tirodo at El Toreo July 23, 1961 when the bull Vanidoso had its life spared in reward for his extraordinary bravery.

In their last local appearances Velazquez cut an ear at El Toreo June 3 and Bravo stole the ovations from Spain's Antonio Ordonez at Plaza Monumental July 8. This will be Vera's first corrida at Tijuana.

Wills Steals Tilt From Phils For Dodgers, 4-2

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — They may talk more about Frank Howard. Or Frank Robinson. Or Don Drysdale. Or Willie Mays. But a little man named Maury Wills may yet steal the National League pennant for the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Maury stole his 68th base Thursday night—a team record—as Los Angeles came from behind to down Philadelphia, 4-2, and preserve a 3½ game lead over San Francisco. Only four games back in Cincinnati, which blistered the Chicago Cubs a twin.

The Dodgers moved over to New York today to engage the Mets in a game that matched Drysdale, 22-6, with Jay Hook, one of the bigger New York winners with 7-14.

Wills singled home Johnny Roseboro in the eighth inning to tie the score at 1-1, erasing a Philadelphia lead attained when Tony Taylor rammed a solo homer in the third off starting and winning pitcher Johnny Podres. Once on base, Wills promptly stole second. He scored the go-ahead run on Willie Davis' single which advanced Jim Gilliam to third.

Howard, who hit the ball hard, then doubled to score both Gilliam and Willie Davis.

Don Demeter, still plaguing his former teammates, hit his 23rd home run for the Phillies off Ed Roebuck in the eighth. But that failed to make any difference to the league leaders.

Podres, now 10-10 for the season, won his 110th game as a Dodger, thanks to Roebuck's assist. Ron Perranoski also toiled one inning of flawless relief.

In his seven innings, Podres gave up only six hits and the single run, while fanning five batters and yielding two walks.

The Dodgers won 14 of the 18 games between the two teams.

Tommy Davis, however, found the Phillie pitching a little thin for his diet, taking the collar in four trips to the plate. It cost him in his battle for the National League leadership.
